

Helping West Sussex residents tackle fuel poverty - Advice for Councillors Winter 2022

The need for home energy support services and schemes is emerging as a consistent priority for the Winter of 2022 and is expected to continue. Energy price rises, rising costs of living and the effects of the pandemic are just some of the factors fuelling this crisis. This document gives a brief overview of the home energy support services, eligibility, and contact/referral details for West Sussex residents.

Living in a cold home can cause physical and mental health problems, make existing illness worse, deepen poverty and debt, affect children's education, and increase social isolation. But there are solutions, some words from a trusted professional and/or a Councillor can make all the difference to a vulnerable household, or a household needing to access assistance for the first time.

West Sussex has a range of support services available, including practical advice and grant funding for residents who may be struggling to keep warm and well. West Sussex is part of a consortium of Local Authorities who have been successful in securing Local Authority Delivery (LAD) funding for a range of low carbon heating technologies and insulation measures for low-income households. Updates on these schemes will be found on the West Sussex energy website (listed on the page below), further updates expected in February/March.

Action in West Sussex

The West Sussex Affordable Energy Partnership are committed to addressing and reducing the impact and incidence of fuel poverty across West Sussex. The partnership includes representatives from all West Sussex Local Authorities, WSCC and wider community partners. These meetings are quarterly and facilitated by the West Sussex Fuel Poverty Coordinator.

 West Sussex Affordable Energy The partnership has recently launched: Fuel Poverty: West Sussex Framework for Action 2021-2026

The purpose of the framework is to bring West Sussex in line with NICE guidance \(NG6\), England's fuel poverty target¹, Sustainable warmth: protecting vulnerable households in England policy paper, promote best practice and engage policy makers in the wider conversations about impacts of fuel poverty across West Sussex. We look at current need and demands for services as well as the Governments direction for energy efficiency measures and low carbon technologies. As we look to the future, it is important that we have a fair and just low carbon heating transition for low incomes households.

¹ The fuel poverty target is to ensure that as many fuel poor homes as is reasonably practicable achieve a minimum energy efficiency rating of Band C, by 2030

Key sources of information and support

The West Sussex Affordable Energy Partnership are committed to 'working towards a West Sussex where residents have the information, resources and support available so they can afford to keep warm and well in their homes'.
